18) Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow :

“Land reform proper was quickly followed by the organization of groups of five to eight farming households into mutual-aid teams. Farmers were persuaded to pull their labour during peak seasons and to coordinate their agricultural activities. The next step involved the organization of fixed neighborhood into Agricultural Producer’s Co-operatives. Members of each Co-operative would agree to pool their land and to work according to some central plan. One effect of this move on the landscape was the consolidation of the extremely fragmented and uneconomical holdings. Between 1956 and 1957, Co-operatives were consolidated into large communal farms. Land becomes the property of the commune”.....
